

Project update – Riverview

With the upgrade of the Ipswich Motorway between Dinmore and Goodna now past the halfway point, some of the features in the Riverview area have begun to take shape.

Tessman Street Bridge

Following the opening of the Endeavour Road connection in April this year, the project team began the removal of the old Tessman Street Bridge. The bridge will be completely removed by mid October 2011.

The new Tessman Street pedestrian bridge is currently under construction and will be open by the end of 2011. The bridge will be painted yellow to put a splash of colour into the surrounding environment and will be landscaped with a pedestrian rest point on the southern side.

New service road

The southern service road is also under construction. The section between Tessman Street and Endeavour Road will be complete and open to traffic in October 2011.

Construction will continue on the remaining section between Tessman Street and Law Street, Redbank and will progressively open to traffic between September 2011 and early 2012.

Works are ongoing on the northern service road between McEwan Street and Brisbane Road with this section opening to traffic around December 2011.

Noise barriers

Noise barriers are in the process of being installed along the southern service road. The barriers are made of galvanised metal and are designed to absorb noise from both the motorway and the service road. The barriers will be completed by the end of 2011.
