Infrastructure Policy Statement

Document purpose

The Australian Government is committed to focusing on delivering nationally significant land transport projects in partnership with our stakeholders, and taking a strategic view of its investments and the infrastructure pipeline.

This Policy Statement:

- · defines nationally significant transport infrastructure;
- sets out three strategic themes that will guide our investment decisions in nationally significant infrastructure; and
- outlines how the Government will put these themes into action, and leverage the unique opportunities to deliver our policy objectives.

Transport infrastructure should not be an end in itself—when properly planned and targeted, it is an enabler that helps us unlock a range of significant economic, social and environmental objectives.

While this document is a statement of Government intent, it may be updated over time.

What are 'nationally significant' infrastructure projects?

The Government considers nationally significant transport infrastructure projects to comprise projects which require a clear role for the Commonwealth, and include at least two of the following characteristics:

- an Australian Government contribution of at least $250 million; and/or
- alignment with Government priorities as articulated in this document; and/or
- situated on or connected to the National Land Transport Network and/or other key freight routes, such as those identified in the National Freight and Supply Chain Strategy; and/or
- supporting other emerging or broader national priorities such as housing, defence, the development of critical mineral resources and Closing the Gap.

Achieving outcomes through infrastructure investment

The Government has identified three strategic themes for our infrastructure investment reform agenda – Productivity and Resilience, Liveability and Sustainability – which encapsulate the benefits we want our investments to provide.

Theme 1: Productivity and Resilience

Productivity

The Government will seek to invest in infrastructure proposals that improve national productivity.

Strong population growth has put pressure on urban transport systems. Road congestion and public transport crowding will continue to increase in Australian cities, with the cost of gridlock forecast to more than double—to $39.8 billion from 2016 to 2031<sup>1</sup>—impairing productivity and global competitiveness. Urban freight volumes are forecast to grow by nearly 60 per cent to 2040<sup>2</sup>, putting increased pressure on freight networks.

The Government will seek to invest in projects that improve the ability of Australians to move around their cities, towns and regions, including prioritising investments that increase the role of mass transit in the urban commuter task to help develop more productive central business districts and precincts. Through targeted investment in infrastructure, we can ensure that our growing population is able to move faster and more safely to their destination.

Regional Australia contributes approximately two-thirds of Australia's export earnings through industries such as agriculture, tourism, resources, retail and manufacturing<sup>3</sup>. The regions help drive productivity by getting products from our farm gate to our manufacturing centres or our ports to meet the increasing demand from international markets. The Government will continue to support nationally significant projects in regional Australia that provide the connections between our regions, communities and major gateways. We will also prioritise investments in regional networks that help grow economies and communities.

Cross-portfolio linkages: National Urban Policy; Urban Precincts and Partnerships Program; Net Zero by 2050; Population and Housing Priorities; Regional Investment Framework; Aviation White Paper; and National Housing Accord.

Resilient supply chains and land transport infrastructure

Australia's climate is changing, resulting in increasing frequency and severity of extreme weather events, with increased risk of bushfires, droughts, storms and floods which can have a significant, damaging and disruptive impact on our land transport network and associated supply chains. Regional communities are particularly reliant on roads, which serve as their connection to services, goods and social support—without these connections, regional communities can be cut-off.

The Government will seek to invest in projects that improve the resilience of critical road and rail corridors, including through upgrading existing assets that are vulnerable to risks, enhancing networks to achieve greater redundancy, as well as building to a higher standard where appropriate to create more resilient infrastructure after disasters.

To support more efficient supply chains, the Government will also seek to invest in infrastructure projects that contribute to the goals of the National Freight and Supply Chain Strategy, including:

- improved efficiency and international competitiveness;
- · safe, secure and sustainable operations; and
- innovative solutions to meet freight demand.

As detailed in the Bureau of Infrastructure and Transport Research Economics' Road and Rail Supply Chain Resilience Review – Phase 1, Australia's freight task has increased significantly over the last 40 years and that growth is expected to continue<sup>4</sup>. In particular, regional freight is a significant economic driver, supporting the carriage of vast quantities of commodities. The nature of our freight is also changing as businesses, technology and consumer behaviours evolve. Recent disruptions to the freight network have highlighted the importance of efficient and resilient supply chains.

Ensuring reliable links between producers and markets, including through international gateways and intermodal terminals, is a critical part of improving the efficiency and competitiveness of our national supply chains. The Government will seek to invest in projects that improve the efficiency of the supply chains by removing bottlenecks and improving network resilience.

Theme 2: Liveability

Equity and Connectivity

The Government will seek to invest in land transport projects that advance equity for Indigenous Australians and vulnerable communities, and improve the prosperity, accessibility and liveability of our communities. This includes through projects which better connect people and where they live and work, while also providing better opportunities in lower socioeconomic areas. Projects should also create and support local jobs both during construction but also as a result of the project

In achieving this aim, the Government will seek investments that ensure the planned development of cities, suburbs and regions, by linking strategic planning, population and employment growth, the supply and availability of housing, and land transport infrastructure investment.

Cross-portfolio linkages. Regional Investment Framework; Precincts and Partnerships Program; National Urban Policy Framework; Net Zero Economic Taskforce; Net Zero by 2050; Closing the Gap; Population and Housing Priorities; and Australia's Disability Strategy.

Safety

The Government is also committed to improving the safety of the nation's transport networks, both for users and those that work on the networks. We will prioritise infrastructure investments that enhance operational safety, including through the road safety measures agreed with the states and territories in the National Road Safety Strategy 2021-30 and Action Plan 2023-25, and via reform to rail interoperability to improve rail safety by reducing reliance on human factors.

Cross-portfolio linkages: National Population and Planning Framework; Net Zero by 2050; National Housing Accord; Housing Australia Future Fund; National Housing Infrastructure Facility, Regional Investment Framework; National Road Safety Strategy; National Freight and Supply Chain Strategy; National Emergency Management Agency; and Closing the Gap.

Theme 3: Sustainability

Reduce transport and infrastructure emissions

Achieving the Government's commitment to cut emissions by 43 per cent by 2030 and achieve Net Zero by 2050 will require reduced emissions across our national transport task and will require a concerted effort to decarbonise<sup>5</sup>. This includes reducing emissions in through decarbonising transport operations, as well as in the design, construction and operation of transport infrastructure.

The Government will seek to invest in projects that encourage and enable integrated and more sustainable approaches to land use that can allow people opportunities to work closer to where they live and reduce the need for long commutes, particularly by private vehicle. The Government will look to support commuters to choose more efficient, affordable and sustainable modes of transport, including walking and cycling; as well as investing in infrastructure that encourages more sustainable approaches to land use and town planning, more efficient and less polluting freight networks, supporting changes to the way transport industries operate and contributing to our decarbonisation agenda.

The Government will also work with our state and territory counterparts to encourage the use of lower emissions materials in infrastructure construction and encourage projects that facilitate the take-up of low or zero emission transport technologies, consistent with our National Electric Vehicle Strategy.

Cross-portfolio linkages: Net Zero by 2050; Recycling Modernisation Fund; National Electric Vehicle Strategy; Powering Australia Plan, Emissions Reduction Fund; Regional Investment Framework; Jet Zero and Aviation White Paper.

Implementation: putting this statement into action

Working in partnership with states, territories, and stakeholders

Delivering high quality, nationally significant infrastructure requires strong partnerships. In particular, state and territory governments are the Government's primary funding and delivery partners for its investments in land transport infrastructure. The Government is committed to deep collaboration, shared planning, and transparency about expectations to build a sustainable land transport investment agenda that works in the interest of all Australians.

State, territory and local governments are primarily responsible for our land transport networks through their ownership, operation and maintenance of assets, and as co-investors, driving the planning, identification and delivery of infrastructure projects. Industry, business, other asset owners, managers and government agencies are also important stakeholders. Collaborative partnerships with these groups help the Government to prioritise, plan and deliver projects to ensure they achieve the broadest benefits possible at the right cost.

Achieving policy outcomes

This Infrastructure Policy Statement will embed strategic direction in decision-making by prioritising investment proposals that are supported by evidence, long-term strategic plans and robust business cases based on established methodologies, and supported by co-investment from the relevant jurisdiction. A revitalised Infrastructure Australia, which will contribute its expertise to appraise projects as part of the Government's Budget process, will also be involved in the delivering this approach.

In addition, this Statement outlines other criteria the Government will consider when identifying projects suitable for Commonwealth investment.

Considerations for project delivery

The delivery of major infrastructure projects presents a unique opportunity for the Government to pursue its policy goals beyond those enabled by the project itself. The below criteria articulate those priorities which are specifically applicable during the delivery phase of projects.

Equal funding split

The Australian Government's funding for nationally significant land transport infrastructure projects will be provided on a 50:50 basis with state and territory delivery partners. This ensures more proportional risk sharing and allows the Commonwealth to contribute to a greater number of projects across jurisdictions. The Government may consider funding a greater share of projects on the National Land Transport Network in jurisdictions with less capacity to raise revenue on a case-by-case basis.

Use of recycled materials

The Government expects project procurement practices to encourage sustainable resource management and support the circular economy. States and territories should aim to maximise, where appropriate, the proportion of recycled materials used in project design and construction, as well as potentially recycling or reusing materials during the project's lifecycle.

First Nations participation and heritage management

The Government is committed to leveraging its infrastructure investments to increase employment opportunities for First Nations job-seekers and businesses, consistent with the Indigenous Employment and Supplier-use Infrastructure Framework. The Government also expects that any potential impacts during project delivery to Indigenous heritage sites will be mitigated, including involving First Nations communities in decision-making process regarding heritage protection.

Women's participation

The Government expects state delivery partners and contractors to enable workplace cultural change and support increased women's workforce participation in the construction of Government funded projects.

Infrastructure Policy Statement – 14 November 2023

Decarbonisation and embodied carbon

The Government is committed to achieving net zero emissions by 2050. Work is underway across jurisdictions to help drive decarbonisation in the construction sector. As emissions reduction techniques emerge, the Government expects them to be factored into project delivery.

Local employment and procurement

Consistent with the Buy Australia Plan, project delivery partners should aim to maximise opportunities for Australian businesses and workers on major projects to help build domestic industry capability.

Infrastructure resilience

The Government expects the resilience of road and rail corridors to be a key consideration in the identification and delivery of projects, noting increasingly frequent severe weather events and natural hazards. Project design should involve risk management and disaster resilience measures.

Construction industry sustainability

The Government expects project procurement practices to support the long-term sustainability of the construction industry given its critical importance to infrastructure investment pipeline delivery. Such practices could include adoption of collaborative models of procurement.

Increased access to data

The Government expects that data will be made available by jurisdictions for the purposes of policy and project proposal decisions and evaluations.

Subject: RE: Confidential - IIP [SEC=OFFICIAL]

Further to discussion with Jess this afternoon, Qld would welcome confirmation in writing of the discussion we had this morning. It would assist us if that confirmation could consider the following matters:

I would like to strongly reiterate our willingness and commitment to working closely with the Australian Government to bring funding certainty to critical current and future transport infrastructure projects across the state whilst managing within fiscal constraints.

Kind regards

Sally Stannard Acting Director-General

Thank you, we are just finalising data. Hope to have it to you by the end of the day.

However, before I send can I just please confirm how the confidentiality of data will be treated. Ministers raised this with Minister King at the ITMM meeting in Perth. But can I just confirm how data will be treated from a confidentiality perspective?

Thanks

I would like to acknowledge the traditional custodians of this land on which we meet, work and live. I recognise and respect their continuing connection to the land, waters and communities.

I pay my respects to Elders past and present and to all Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders.

Dear Andrew

With the deep dive and written submission process complete, the IIP reviewers and the supporting secretariat at the department would like to extend sincere thanks to you, your colleagues and your agency for contributing to the IIP review.

Without your valuable perspectives and experiences, the reviewers wouldn't have the necessary insight to complete the review.

The reviewers have especially appreciated the candour of their conversations with you, as well as the warm hospitality and significant logistical efforts made, both physically and virtually, to accommodate the reviewers and ensure that consultation sessions ran smoothly. We truly appreciate all the flexibility demonstrated in accommodating the reviewers' tight schedule and your willingness to provide timely information.

Finally, as you are aware, Jane Halton AO PSM is conducting a review of the current National Partnership Agreement. To support this work, Jane has asked if it would be possible to review your submission to the IIP Review.

Minister King, in her letter to your minister of 22 June 2023, stated that prior to disclosing any information that states and territories provide during the Review process, the department would seek approval from the relevant jurisdiction. Accordingly, I would appreciate if you could provide your permission or otherwise for Jane to receive your submission at your earliest convenience. Your submission will remain cabinet-in-confidence and will not be shared beyond Jane and the NPA Review secretariat within the Commonwealth department.

Thank you again for your contribution. If you have any questions, you can contact the secretariat at IIPreview@infrastructure.gov.au.

Kind regards

Bruce Highway (Ingham – Innisfail), Gairloch Floodway, improve safety

North Queensland Region Northern District Bruce Highway Upgrade Program

Location
Bruce Highway, 6km north of Ingham
Timing
Planning started November 2021
Status
Planning

Planning has started to improve safety and reduce the time of closure due to flooding on a complex section of the Bruce Highway at the Gairloch floodway, approximately 6km north of Ingham.

The department is currently undertaking planning for safety improvements of the Gairloch section of the Bruce Highway, through the proposed implementation of wide centre line treatment and upgrading the road (removing the sharp curve) at this location.

Planning will also include aiming to reduce highway closures due to flooding by targeting a comparable immunity level at the highway immediately north and south of the Gairloch section.

The Gairloch floodway is located in the centre of a 16km flood-prone section of the Bruce Highway from the southern outskirts of Ingham to the foothills of Cardwell Range.

Historically, flooding closes the Bruce Highway at one or more locations along this 16km section every 2 years during the wet season, often multiple times, with closures varying from hours to several days.

The Garloch floodway normally closes the highway first, and also keeps the highway closed for a longer period of time.

While the focus has been on more long-term solutions to address closures along the entire 16km section to date, both the Australian and Queensland governments recognise the benefits of reducing the time of highway closures at Gairloch due to flooding.

Benefits

- Improves safety
- Improves network efficiency
- Improves flood immunity
- Contributes to economy

Key features

- Improve safety through the delivery of wide centre line treatment
- Improve safety by upgrading the road geometry through the approximate 2.5km section of the Bruce Highway to remove the curve and straighten the road
- Reduce the time of Bruce Highway closures due to flooding through the Gairloch floodway

Current status

Planning started November 2021. Initial site investigations will involve survey, geotechnical investigations, cultural heritage and environmental assessment, and identification and location of public utility plant. Consultation with key stakeholders and the wider community will continue in 2023.

Stakeholder and community engagement

TMR undertook consultation between 30 April and 28 May 2021, seeking feedback on issues, ideas, and concerns on the overpass upgrade.

More than 300 stakeholders provided their feedback, with 86 per cent of respondents supportive of the upgrade.

Themes that emerged from the feedback, include:

- the need to duplicate the bridge with cycle facilities
- · increased traffic congestion during morning and afternoon peak times
- the need for separated paths for pedestrian and bike riders

Approval note: Back page

- extensive traffic queues with the entry and exit ramps to Gympie Arterial Road due during peak times
- request for traffic lights at the entry and exit ramps to Linkfield Road and Gympie Arterial Road
- improve road safety for pedestrians and bike riders.

Community Update

The Department of Transport and Main Roads (TMR) has been investigating options to reduce traffic congestion and improve safety and freight access for the Linkfield Road Overpass in Bald Hills.

Following community feedback received during consultation in 2021, TMR advise a design is being finalised for the upgrade of the Linkfield Road Overpass.

Design solution

The design for the upgrade of the Linkfield Road Overpass will help to reduce traffic congestion, improve safety, and freight access, and make more provision for active transport use.

Based on stakeholder feedback including during community consultation in 2021, and technical and financial information, key features of the design include:

 upgrade of Linkfield Road to four lanes (two lanes in each direction) between Gympie Road and Lacey Road intersections, and removal of existing Linkfield Road Overpass to create a new overpass

September 2023

- increase in the overpass clearance height from 4.7 metres to 6 metres
- upgrade of northbound and southbound entry ramps, and extension of southbound exit ramp length
- · signalisation of northbound and southbound ramp intersections.
- new separated pathway for eastbound pedestrians, bike riders and other users
- new on road cycle lane for westbound bike riders.

Benefits

The Linkfield Road Overpass upgrade will:

- increase operational capacity and reduce traffic congestion and vehicle queuing
- improve road safety for all vehicle operators, people who walk, and ride bikes
- increase the overpass height clearance for higher loads
- increase provision for active transport users through the interchange.

Please see the project map overleaf for further information.

The department is undertaking integrated planning for the Gateway Motorway and Bruce Highway Upgrades in north Brisbane and the Moreton Bay Region.

Each day, around 160,000 vehicles travel between the Moreton Bay Region and north Brisbane on the Gateway Motorway, Bruce Highway and Gympie Arterial Road.

Significant population growth is increasing travel demand through this road corridor, with current traffic levels expected to increase by around 50% by 2041.

These projects are part of an integrated approach to planning for the Gateway Motorway and Bruce Highway Upgrades that will investigate:

Gateway Motorway (Bracken Ridge to Pine River)

- Upgrading the Gateway Motorway from Bracken Ridge to Pine River.
- Reconfiguring the existing Gateway Motorway from six to eight lanes between Nudgee and Bracken Ridge.

Gateway Motorway and Bruce Highway Upgrades (GMBHU): Planning Update

The Department of Transport and Main Roads (TMR) is progressing integrated planning to cater for increasing traffic demands and improved safety on the Gateway Motorway and Bruce Highway corridors.

Significant population growth and current demand indicate traffic levels will increase by more than 50 per cent by 2041. Without upgrades, this vital section of the National Highway will be heavily congested for longer periods, with travel times significantly increasing for motorists.

TMR would like to thank everyone who has provided feedback during planning. Feedback has been incorporated where possible, so the best outcomes are achieved for the overall transport network and the community. The community will continue to have opportunities to provide feedback as the project progresses.

Have your say

TMR welcomes feedback on the recommended planning for the Gateway Motorway (Bracken Ridge to Pine River) and Bruce Highway (Gateway Motorway to Dohles Rocks Road) sections.

Recommended planning and 2

Recommended planning for (1) Gateway Motorway (Bracken Ridge to Pine River) and (2) Bruce Highway (Gateway Motorway to Dohles Rocks Road) will manage increasing traffic demands and improve safety, travel time reliability, connectivity, and accessibility.

The overarching key features are:

- . Upgrading the Gateway Motorway and Bruce Highway corridors to increase capacity and meet National Highway standards
- · Upgrading key interchanges to improve connectivity and safety
- Introducing collector-distributor roads on the Bruce Highway to collect and distribute local traffic and remove unsafe weaving
- · Providing a shared pathway along the project corridor to improve active transport connections for bike riders and pedestrians
- · Providing or upgrading noise barriers to
- . Minimising impacts to surrounding areas of environmental importance and including features such as fauna fencing and fauna

PLEASE NOTE:

Recommended plans shown in this update are not final. Project cost, scope, staging and timing are subject to further planning The community will continue to have opportunities to provide feedback as the Collector-distributor roads will be constructed either side of the Bruce Highway between the Gateway Motorway / Gympie Arterial Road and Dohles Rocks Road interchange. Collector-distributor roads are built parallel and separate to a main carriageway collecting local traffic and distributing it on the road network. Collector-distributor roads provide extra road space and improve safety by reducing the need for vehicles to weave through highway traffic. Page Number: 540 of 567

Maryborough-Hervey Bay Road on the southern approach to the intersection and Pialba-Burrum Heads Road west of the intersection will increase to four lanes to accommodate major traffic movements and support current and future growth needs.

In 2021, the Australian and Queensland governments announced a $44.1 million commitment to improve the safety and efficiency for all road users at the intersection. In 2023, the Queensland Government increased its contribution in the Queensland Transport and Roads Investment Program bringing its total commitment to $10.61 million, and the total project allocation to $45.89 million.

Early works are expected to commence in the first half of 2024, following confirmation of Australian Government funding. Australian Government funding contributions are subject to the outcomes of the Australian Government's Independent Strategic Review of its Infrastructure Investment Program.

Proserpine – Shute Harbour Road, Hamilton Plains, flood immunity upgrade

As part of the 2023–24 Federal Budget, the Australian Government announced it is undertaking a 90-day review of Australian Government funded infrastructure projects. The department is awaiting the outcomes of this review, in order to determine impacts on our jointly funded projects.

A flood immunity upgrade will be delivered to a 1.5km section of Proserpine – Shute Harbour Road at Hamilton Plains between the Bruce Highway turn-off and Strathdickie Road.

Proserpine – Shute Harbour Road is the sole arterial road linking the Bruce Highway and Proserpine to the Whitsunday townships of Cannonvale, Airlie Beach, Jubilee Pocket and the port of Shute Harbour.

The road travels through Hamilton Plains, a low-lying floodplain prone to flooding. Following wet weather, the road is often closed.

This project will improve the flood immunity of this section of road by raising the road levels and increasing culvert capacity to enable flood waters to drain away more easily and quickly.
